Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1302572A2] The spinning machine, to spin core yarns, has at least one sliver (3) drawing unit (1), with a condensing zone (34) to condense the drawn sliver. The condensing zone has at least one track of perforations (23) around the condensing unit (22) with inner suction. Filaments (12) are fed to the sliver, in front of the condensing zone. The condensing zone has a suction zone (34') to act on the laid filaments, in the running direction of the belt (38) which carries the sliver/filaments through the condensing stage.
