Abstract (en)

[origin: WO0202857A1] A method for displaying a warning message of a washing machine is disclosed, which displays the warning message that has to be considered before using the washing machine to allow a user to see it before operating the washing machine on applying a power source. Therefore, it is possible to prevent the laundry from being damaged by various causes. The method for displaying the warning message of the washing machine having a display device includes the steps of displaying the warning message, which has to be considered before using the washing machine, in the display device, and processing the laundry according to the warning message if the current laundry should conform to the warning message displayed before using the washing machine. The method prevents the laundry from being damaged and rewashed by displaying the warning message, which has to be considered before using the washing machine, on applying the power source, and improves efficiency of the washing machine.
