Abstract (en)
[origin: WO0207572A1] The inventive plate for a stand-up meal comprises a main plate in the form of a flat dish which has a turn down modified edge, relates to the catering trade and can be used in public catering establishments having a stand-up service. Said plate is additionally provided with a support holder arranged in the lower part thereof and provided with a central orifice whose shape and dimensions correspond to the shape and dimensions of the end of the plate. The dimensions of the support holder are greater than the dimensions of the plate, the end edges thereof being connected to the orifice edges. The supporting elements are embodied on the orifice. An open tapered slot for a thin stem of glass is embodied on the turn down edge of the plate.
