Abstract (en)
A carton and blank (10) for forming a carton for holding one or more articles, for example connected plastic cups or a tray, comprising a first wall (12), opposed side walls (14,24) and a second wall (16) hingedly connected together to form a tubular structure. A display window (46,48) is formed in one of the side walls (14,16) and extends into the first panel. An article retention means is hingedly connected to said first wall (12) and said second wall (16), which article retention means is provided by a central retention strip (28) and an end retention strip (26,30) formed from adjacent carton walls. The central retention strip (28) is offset from the end retention strip (26,30) so as to engage an article within the carton. <IMAGE>
