Abstract (en)
[origin: WO0211433A2] A method and system of selectively filtering content for display includes initiating at least one TV magnet corresponding to a category of content, attracting, repelling, or attracting and repelling content based on the TV magnet, and selectively displaying the filtered content according to the attracting repelling or attracting and repelling step. The term "content" relates to any type of programming or information that can be broadcast, stored by a user, or otherwise transmitted to a user.
