Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1313083A2] A colour chart which enables an unskilled user to select a colour scheme for planned decorating projects has a large panel (2) for the main colour and a number of smaller strips (3) representing matching colours for smaller areas. The larger panel covers more than half the area of the card. At least three smaller colour strips are provided on each card. These depict the suggested matching colour schemes for window/door frames, and other smaller areas. The strips are separated by a neutral tone background/border. The colour chart can be paper or card and can be the size of a postcard.
