Abstract (en)
[origin: WO0217279A2] A foldable sheet assembly is configured to comprise a container within which a drawer member is retained. The drawer member incorporates a sheet folded into a concertina format. The drawer member and container incorporate respective flanges which engage upon each other to prevent full withdrawal of the drawer member from the container mouth after assembly. The foldable assembly may incorporate tickets, windows and other features to facilitate detachment of tickets and/or vouchers from the assembly and also to allow the assembly to be attached to another object or carried.
