Abstract (en)
A decorative light includes a length of flexible core (10) provided with bulbs (12) and wires (14) electrically connected to the bulbs (12), and a substantially transparent outer covering (30) encasing the core (10). In addition, a slot (15) is longitudinally defined in the core (10) and having a resilient member (16) received in the slot (15). With the addition of the resilient member (16), the decorative light is able to be folded to any shape.
