Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1321954A1] The switch unit (12) has a base surface (14) supporting switch elements (22,23) operated by a switch slider (18), displaced parallel to the base surface. The switch elements are operated perpendicular to the base surface, via a pivot lever switch piece (24) acting between the switch slider and the switch elements. <??>An Independent claim for a switch lever for an automobile steering column switch is also included.
