Abstract (en)
[origin: WO0218024A1] A method and device is set forth for playing a game where an inventory of game indicia is arranged in a random but established, serial order. For each hand of play the player makes a wager (114) and game indicia are displayed in order from the inventory to define a winning or losing outcome. A display (100), as hands are displayed, displays the remaining constituency of the inventory. The player can before any game, order re-shuffling and re-constitute the inventory.
