Abstract (en)

This invention relates to a cupboard built in arrangement for a household machine, for instance a dishwasher. The arrangement comprises an inner door (19) belonging to the machine (10) and in its closed position covering a treatment chamber (17) and an outer door (13) which in its closed position hides the inner door and which is adapted to the cupboard. The machine (10) is connected to at least one distance means (23) by means of which the machine when being mounted is placed and fixed in a predetermined position in the cupboard (11). The outer door (13) is provided with one or several hinges (14) co-operating with hinge supports (28) which are fixed with respect to the machine (10). <IMAGE>
