Abstract (en)

[origin: FR2815548A1] The grille consists of a series of lengthwise parallel and equidistant bars (5) connected by a cross-members (6) and having a transverse axle (4) which allows the grille to pivot in a condenser outlet duct (2). It also incorporates a number of filters (8) fitted rigidly but detachably between the lengthwise bars. The bars are in the form of rigid strips and the filters have vanes lying parallel to them and connected by spacers, with side flanges for fitting to the bars.
