Abstract (en)
The invention consists of a disposable device for cleaning toilets. It is similar to those seen hung on the inner rim of the toilet bowl, which work by the action of the water released during the flushing, whereby when the water comes into contact with the invented device it is mixed with an appropriate cleaning product contained in the device, thus disinfecting, cleaning and freshening the toilet. <??>It is important to say that the device is disposable and not refilled. <IMAGE>
