Abstract (en)

[origin: WO0246017A1] To prevent damage to the braking system of the motor vehicle, caused by driving with the hand-brake applied, the hand-brake is automatically released, if the speed of the vehicle exceeds a predetermined minimum value, if the drive unit of the vehicle is driven in a specific operating mode and also if at least one operating element of the motor vehicle that is to be actuated by the driver is or has been actuated.
