Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1343131A2] The method is for the transmission of printed information with security against misuse and involves the information on a flat bearer fixed by adhesive on a base. The bearer on account of a lower retention force than the adhesion force is divided when withdrawn. After the division of the bearer, the residue of the bearer connected with the adhesive is further removable from the base. The information is covered by the bearer and the bearer and the adhesive are sufficiently transparent that after division of the bearer the information is legible.
