Abstract (en)

[origin: WO0249875A1] The invention concerns a pickup truck with cab-over-engine and goods and passenger transport platform, whereof the platform comprises at least a lowered longitudinal loading plate (18), called lower loading plate, and adjacent to each of the lower loading plates (18), at least a so-called upper loading plate (19, 20), raised relative to said lower loading plate and parallel thereto. Said platform further includes, for each lower plate (18), a longitudinal flap (21) articulated on an upper plate (20) adjacent to said lower plate and having a length not less than that of the latter, said flap being adapted to tilt between a folded position on the upper plate (20) wherein it clears the volume located above the lower plate (18) and an unfolded position above said lower plate wherein it forms a plate with each upper plate (19, 20) adjacent thereto.
