Abstract (en)
[origin: WO02065022B1] A method for the production of a precise pre-cast concrete piece, in particular in the form of a sleeper or plate for a fixed track for railed vehicles is disclosed. According to the invention, said method is characterised in that the pre-cast concrete piece is first produced as a blank in a form and then worked, at least in the functionally relevant regions, to the given dimensions.
