Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1361032A1] The tile cutting appliance has a cutting tool (11) on a swing arm (6), operated by a lever (8). It is attached to a slide (5) which moves along a linear guide (4). A breaker (12) snaps off the tile at the cut score line. The breaker has a carrier strap on a swing axis (19) at the swing arm, which is held and locked in an upper rest position and can be moved down into an active setting. The locking action is applied by a radial projection over the side edge of the carrier strap working with a bolt (22) of an elastic rubber or plastics material at the swing arm.
