Abstract (en)

[origin: WO02068106A1] The invention relates to a method for mixing products, particularly viscous pasty products, in a mixing container (1) by means of at least two exchangeable mixers (7, 8) protruding therein, respectively comprising a mixing shaft (9) on which mixing elements (10, 12, 13) extend radially therefrom and which touch each other. According to the inventive method, the mixing elements (10, 12, 13) are used to perform mutual cleaning, clean the surface of the mixing shafts (7, 8) and/or a clean the inner surface of the container, removing products sticking thereto. At least one mixer (7, 8) performs an orbital movement in the container (1).
