Abstract (en)

[origin: DE10103120C1] The banknote transport device has individual banknotes extracted from at least one banknote cassette (16) combined into a banknote bundle, which is transported to a delivery point (34) via a pair of belt drives (48,50) with facing endless belts rotated in the same direction. The belt drives are operated at different velocities in the transport direction of the returned banknotes between the delivery point and a collection container (18).
