Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1367349A1] The electrical cable (10) is produced by coating an extruded wire core with a protective insulation material .This is then cleaned by an air jet (46). This is then cooled by being fed through a water spray unit (34). The water passing over the cable is collected (18). A suction unit (20) draws the water through a separator (24) and is then recycled (32).
