Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1369055A2] The applicator consists of a holder (7) in the form of a threaded cap for a container (3) of the cosmetic product, a stem (6) and a tip (20) e.g. in the form of a curved brush. The stem is connected to the holder by an articulated joint and it has a projecting tip (18) that allows its position relative to the holder to be modified for more convenient application. The articulated joint allows for angular movement while preventing any axial or lateral movement of the applicator stem, while a system of graduated marks on the holder enables the stem to be moved into a pre-set position relative to it.
