Abstract (en)
[origin: WO02080751A1] The invention relates to a floor cleaning device comprising a flat cleaning head (1) which is guided on a stick whereby the underside of the cleaning head is covered with interchangeable cleaning textile material (5) which is provided on the end thereof with fixing lugs (4) which protrude above the underside of the cleaning head (1) and which when upwardly folded extend as far as the topside of the cleaning head (1) and can be secured in clamping slits (3) arranged therein. In order to be able to use the inventive floor cleaning device for wet-wiping purposes, the cleaning textile material (5) is formed by a machine-washable cleaning plush material (6) on the lower area of the cleaning head (1), whereby the right-hand threads (7) or loops thereof protrude downwards in the direction of the surface which is to be cleaned. A needled felt water-storage layer (8) is disposed above the cleaning plush material (6).
