Abstract (en)
[origin: WO02084811A1] A connector piece for an electrical plug connection, comprising contact pieces for connecting to corresponding electrical lines, by means of which electrical contact with corresponding counter-connectors in a counter-plug may be produced, an insulated body (3), for housing the contact pieces, a metallic plug housing (5), in which the insulated body (3) is arranged and a shield line contact (1) for connection to a shield line, electrically connected to the plug housing (5). The shield line contact (1) is directly electrically connected to the plug housing (5), which permits a simple assembly and an improved contact security, due to the lack of additional contact parts.
