Abstract (en)
[origin: WO02087489A1] There is provided a medicament dispenser comprising a container body having an opening from which to access the contents of said body, the exterior of said body having at least one pressure point for communication with a blister pack containing a medicament and/or a dietary supplement, such that application of pressure to the pressure point breaks the blister and so liberates the medicament and/or dietary supplement into the interior of said container body.
