Abstract (en)
[origin: WO02088490A1] The invention concerns a device characterised in that said covering elements (8) are modular and stacked in the ditch (F) adjacent to one of the sides of a pool (B) to be covered with a protective and covering surface (6) being mounted thereon; said support elements being stored on a loader lifting platform (E) housed in the ditch and capable of successively lifting them above the water body, so that the lifted elements can be translated by being successively rolled, by a thrusting and horizontal return tractive member (13) (19-20) to cover the pool without contact with the water.
