Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1388308A1] The mounting plate for temporarily holding components in position has a section (2) which is passed through a slot (12) in a support (11). A retaining section (14) at right angles to this rests against the edge of the slot and one of the components is hung on to a hook section (4). A bolt (10) can then be passed through a bore (9) in the plate to fix the component in position.
