Abstract (en)
[origin: WO02094661A1] The invention relates to a device (1) for handling valuable product mixtures (6), particularly for tearing open, distributing and conveying plastic sacks (5) filled with valuable products (8) as well as the valuable products contained therein. To this end, the device (1) comprises at least two conveying means (2; 17, 18), which are arranged essentially parallel to one another, are driven by a drive (3), and execute to-and-fro movements in at least two different spatial directions (x, x'; y, y'). The conveying means (2; 17, 18) move in opposite directions during at least one of the movements, and at least one of the movements ensues in a manner that is approximately parallel to a direction of conveyance (x').
