Abstract (en)

[origin: WO03005455A1] The invention relates to an image generation device, especially a 3D camera, comprising at least one picture-recording sensor (10) disposed on a printed board (12). The inventive device is specifically characterized in that the picture-recording sensor (10) is configured by a bare integrated circuit disposed on a printed board (12). The invention further relates to a method for producing such an image generation device.
