Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1403186A1] The machine has filling devices (14), each with an internal conduit including an end (16) for an entry of a product and an end (17) for an exit of the product. The ends are capable of being connected to a feeding unit for feeding the product inside the device. A dispenser is connected in an off-take fashion to the internal conduit to tap the liquid product from the conduit and dispense it into a container.
