Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1403532A1] The system has a support part (1a, 1b) with a retaining surface (4e) inclined towards a wall (W). An engagement part (2) has a corresponding bearing and sliding surface (10a) that can be placed bearing against the surface (4e) while the part (2) is spaced from the wall. The surface (10a) slides bringing about a progressive motion of the part (2) towards the wall during the coupling of the part (2) with the support part.
