Abstract (en)
The cleaning device includes a two-sided toothed belt (9) which transmits the driving force of a drive (10) to the toothed wheels of the shafts (6,6') in order to rotate the driving wheels (7). The rotation of the driving wheels enables the movement of the continuous belts (4) in opposite directions. The continuous belts support the cleaning brushes (2) which are used to clean the shoe soles. The inner space (13) of a cleaning device main body (1) is sucked up via a filter.
