Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1420211A2] The mounting device especially for panel-type radiators has a mounting bracket (4) movable in relation to a fixed wall bracket and equipped with a steplessly adjustable clamping element which consists of a base component of rectangular solid design slid into the wall bracket and with at least one elastic member (6,7) formed on it. A locking element is fitted in the base component and elastic member and protrudes from two side openings in the base component.
