Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1455134A1] The system is fixed between a light source including a bulb, a support and a locking pad unit, and a reflector that presents an internal face and an exterior face (107). The light source includes protuberances (305) arranged on a contact zone of the support. The reflector includes a projection on its external face and one of the protuberance contacts the projection during operation of locking of light source on the reflector. Independent claims are also included for the following: (a) a light source intervening in a fixing system (b) a reflector intervening in a fixing system (c) a vehicle equipped with a fixing system (d) a process of locking of a light source on a reflector through a fixing system.
