Abstract (en)

The invention pertains to a method and an installation for packaging an adhesive product or similar products, the liquid adhesive product being sheathed in a protective sheath of a nonadhesive material. In addition, the adhesive product is sheathed in the protective sheath by means of a coextrusion process (30), the extruded product thus formed of the adhesive product and the protective sheath then being subjected to a solidification process (60), at least for the protective sheath. <IMAGE>
