Abstract (en)
[origin: WO03056259A1] The invention relates to a soldered condenser for a motor vehicle air conditioning unit, comprising a pipe/rib block, collector pipes which are arranged on both sides thereof and receive the ends of the pipes, and a collector which is arranged parallel to one of the collector pipes, fluidically connected to the adjacent collector pipe via two openings and receives a dryer/filter cartridge. The collector (1) is provided with a first soldered sealing part (5) to which the dryer/filter cartridge is mechanically connected. A second sealing part (6) is nondetachably connected to the collector (1, 4).
