Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1468626A1] The distributor has a reservoir with a base (1) having an axial stem (11). A piston mounted on the stem is displaced axially along the stem, by manual rotation of the base with respect to an applicator nozzle at a valve end, for placing a liquid product under pressure. The valve has a central pin that blocks a discharge orifice in an air-tight manner, where the orifice is maintained via a wall supported by a nozzle end. An independent claim is also included for a process of fabrication of the assembly of the distribution of cosmetic product.
