Abstract (en)

[origin: US2004212284A1] An extension guide fitting for drawers comprising an extension rail (4) at the drawer side, a carrier rail (2) at the furniture body side and a middle rail (3) which runs between those two rails (2, 4) at both sides of the drawer. The load between the rails (2, 3, 4) is transmitted by means of running rollers which are mounted in separate carriages (5). Mounted in the front region of the carrier rail (2) are at least two stationary support rollers (8) at which the extension rail (4) runs with a running limb and is supported at least in the closed condition of the drawer.
