Abstract (en)
A primary set of holes (7) is used in dispensing steam while in communication between one steam dispensing chamber (5) and the dispensing portion (8) at the lower ironing surface (2). A secondary steam dispensing hole (9) is in communication between the other chamber (6) and other dispensing area (10) of the plate (1). A heater (20) traverses in part in both steam dispensing chambers. An independent claim is also included for an iron.
