Abstract (en)
[origin: WO03065829A1] The invention concerns an ashtray in the form of a case (2) for a pack of cigarettes (1), and it comprises a window (4) provided in one of the sides of the case, enabling butts, ash and other remains to be dropped into the case chamber, which is accessible after the pack has been moved relative to said case. Said ashtray further comprises a valve arranged at the inlet of the case at the orifice for inserting the pack of cigarettes. Said valve is automatically retracted when the pack is inserted and recovers its position elastically to close the inlet of the case so as to make the ashtray independent.
