Abstract (en)
[origin: WO03073455A1] The invention relates to a modular electrical breaker and electrical breaker device comprising at least one such breaker. The electrical breaker is characterised in that the housing (4) is detachably mounted relative to the breaker element (8) and may be replaced by another housing for a different control bistable (4), detachably fixed relative to the breaker element (8) in order to change to electrical function of the breaker element or the mode of action thereof. The invention is particularly applicable in truck-like vehicles.
