Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1479311A1] The device has an applicator (80) received in the housing (41) and resting on base of the housing. A closing unit of the housing moves with respect to the body between open and closed positions for permitting and preventing access to the applicator, respectively. The closing unit has an end part (59) for pushing the applicator partially out of the housing, when the closing unit passes from the closed to the open position. Independent claims are also included for the following: (a) a packing and applying set having an applying device (b) a make-up process.
