Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1479316A1] The cupboard extension has guide means at the side. A linear guide (3) fixable on the holding part (5) which is inserted in the cupboard has holding elements (11) in which the extending element (2) can be hung. One part (16) of another linear guide (4) has at least one pivot-type guide member which when the extension element (2) is inserted in the linear guides projects into a slot like recess of the other part of the other linear guide (4). The pivot type guide member is preferably mounted on a part of the other linear guide which can be moved relative to the holding part.
