Abstract (en)
[origin: DE10063355A1] The domestic machine has a base recess at the front and the door (8) is pivotable about a horizontal axis and is joined to a base panel (9) near the recess. The base panel can adopt an initial position with the door closed and a desired position with the door open. The base panel can be moved down into the desired position from the initial position by a distance holder (14) mounted between the housing (2,5) and panel.
