Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1479644A1] The industrial truck has at least two functional drives (3,13) which are exclusively alternatively operated by means of one motor (10). At least one functional drive is a travel drive (3) and at least one is a hydraulic pump unit (13). The truck has a brake (5) which is automatically activated when the travel drive is not in operation. The industrial truck can stop automatically in the event of a malfunction, preferably by the de-activating of the travel drive and/or operating of the brake.
