Abstract (en)

[origin: WO03038767A1] The invention concerns a method for traceability and authentication of a product with high added value such as bottled, corked, capped and labelled wine or sensitive products such as medicines individually protected in a labelled package. The invention is characterized in that it comprises the following steps: affixing at least a first identification code (18) marked in clear, on the upper surface of the cork (10) or on the individual protection of the medicine, or on the label, said code being generated by an algorithm held by the producer and readable by that same algorithm; affixing at least a first identification code (22) marked in clear, on the cap (12) of the bottle or on the package, box, flask or blister pack, of the medicine, said code being generated by a algorithm held by the producer and readable by that same algorithm; and recording with the producer, on any appropriate media, combinations of pairs of identification codes.
