Abstract (en)
[origin: WO03084371A1] The invention concerns a support shelf, consisting in a shelf with front access comprising a globally flat surface (28) for supporting products, a stop member placed at the shelf front part (25), and a substantially flat partition (32) whereof the plane is substantially perpendicular to the shelf surface. The shelf (14) has a continuous slot (30) parallel to the direction of its front part (25), the partition (32) has at least a positioning device (34) which co-operates magnetically with the groove (30) such that its plane is substantially perpendicular to the groove, in any particular position along the groove, and the shelf (14) and the partition (32) have co-operating fixing devices. The invention is applicable to self-service sales cabinet.
