Abstract (en)
A display shelf device includes a support post (20), a shelf member (30), and a coupler (1) having a ring member (10) attached to the support post, a bracket (31) attached to the shelf member, and a fastener (17) adjustably securing the bracket and the ring member together at any selected or suitable angular positions. The bracket (31) and the shelf member (30) may thus be easily and quickly adjusted relative to the ring member (10) and the support post (20) at any selected angular position. The bracket includes one or more projections (33) to selectively engage into a number of depressions (15) of the ring member, and to adjustably retain the bracket to the ring member at selected angular position. <IMAGE>
