Abstract (en)

[origin: WO03100271A1] The invention relates to a fixing device (23,60,30,70) for fixing a housing (20) to a carrier plate (10), said fixing device consisting of a fixing means (23,30) and a means (60,70) for widening the fixing means. According to the invention, the housing, the carrier plate and the fixing means respectively comprise an opening (21,13,27,34). The widening means is introduced into the opening of the fixing means and remains therein, and the fixing means grips the carrier plate from the rear in the opening thereof. The fixing means and the widening means are introduced into the opening of the carrier plate from the same side of the carrier plate, and the rotation of the widening means causes the housing to be fixed to the carrier plate in the radial and axial direction.
