Abstract (en)
[origin: WO03099976A1] The invention relates to candle wax (1) which has a paste-like consistency and allows the candle wax (1) to be turned into almost any shape by simply kneading said candle wax (1) at room temperature. A candle can be made from the mass of wax (1) by inserting a wick. The inventive candle paste (1) is produced by continuously mixing candle sand (2) with liquid wax (3) in a mixer and then leaving said candle sand (2) in the mixer until the candle wax (1) has obtained the desired consistency.
